1. Client overview

Twainy Plast Sanitary is a family-run Lebanese retailer and wholesaler of sanitary ware and plumbing products, located in [town / district]. It sells 175 products (mixers and faucets, LED mirrors, WCs, basins and vanities, showers, floor drains and water pumps, mostly $5–$250) to homeowners renovating bathrooms and kitchens, and to plumbers and small contractors. In October 2026 the business launched its online store, twainyplast.com (Shopify), but it has no structured social media or digital marketing strategy yet. That makes it a digitally underdeveloped local enterprise as defined in the brief.

2. The business problem

People are visiting the new website, but nobody is buying. Shopify Analytics for the first days after launch shows:

Sessions, launch week	Add-to-cart rate	Completed orders	Traffic from social media
252	1.1% (3 of 270 sessions)	0 (1 checkout started)	6% (91% direct links)

Only 44% of sessions come from Lebanon, and most people leave before adding anything to the cart. Our first audit points to possible barriers: social channels are not active, product images are renders rather than real photos, delivery and payment terms are only shown at checkout, and the home page invites visitors to "Our Journey" rather than to shop. With this little data these are hypotheses, to be confirmed through research before they are treated as causes.

Research question: How can Twainy Plast use targeted social content, customer trust and an easier buying journey to turn website visitors into paying customers?

3. The project idea: "Choose with Confidence: اختار بثقة"

Shoppers hesitate to buy bathroom and plumbing products online because they cannot check fit, quality or delivery. Our idea is to position Twainy Plast as the clear, honest local expert that helps people choose the right product and makes buying simple. The 4-week social campaign will focus on a small set of well-stocked, clearly priced products (Brax mixers at $25–65 and LED mirrors at $40–60) and run on four content pillars:

- Choose Right: fit and size guides and product comparisons (e.g., "3 things to check before buying a mixer").
- Inside Twainy: the real store, family and team, plus packing and delivery, to build trust.
- Real Homes: genuine customer reviews and installed projects, used only with consent.
- Order Easy: clear prices, delivery and payment terms, and an honest offer with real end dates.

Channels: Instagram and Facebook for discovery and ads, WhatsApp Business for advice and quotes, Google Business Profile for local search, and the website for checkout. The two target personas are Rania, a homeowner renovating her bathroom (goal: buy online), and Hassan, a plumber or small contractor (goal: request a quote on WhatsApp).

4. Objectives

Main objective: build a measurable path from social media attention to paying customers, moving Twainy Plast from 0 online orders to a tested, repeatable sales engine within a 4-week campaign (Oct 29 – Nov 25, 2026).

Objective	4-week target	Baseline today
Convert	10 online orders + 8 WhatsApp-assisted orders; website conversion rate 1%	0 orders; 0% conversion
Attract	1,000 sessions from Lebanon via campaign links; add-to-cart rate 4%	120 Lebanon sessions in 14 days; 1.1% add to cart
Engage	25,000 reach in Lebanon; engagement rate ≥ 3% of reach; link CTR ≥ 1%	No active social presence
Trust & measure	GA4 + Meta Pixel live; 10 genuine Google reviews; reply time < 1 hour; CAC ≤ $20 on a $200 ad test	No tracking; 0 reviews

These are test targets, not forecasts; they will be revised after week 1. Course fit: data-driven problem solving (CLO 1), team agency workflow (CLO 2), ethical targeting, privacy and honest offers (CLO 3), and an executive pitch (CLO 4).
